

'BLITHE SPIRIT' OPENING SET FOR TONIGHT AT 8:30

PLAY TO RUN 3 DAYS IN LITTLE THEATER

CHARACTERS IN PRODUCTION ARE TYPICALLY COWARD

First of the three night's performance of Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" will begin tonight at 8:30 in the Little Theater, introducing a group of typically Coward characters to San Jose State audiences.

Dramatizing Noel Coward himself, according to Director James Butler, the farce deals with a novelist who is trying to rid himself from the dominance of women. From his mother, his two wives and his lady loves, Charles Comodine, played by John Calderwood, has received the benefit of maternal love.

An individualist himself, he resents it. Playwright Coward shows the audience the climactic points of the novel situation which occurs when his first wife, Elvira, played by Barbara Cornwall, returns as a ghost to intrude upon his married life with Ruth, played by Elda Beth Payne.

Elvira contrasts with Ruth, who is an older woman, by having been a beautiful, flirtatious type who died after a short, hectically gay and frivolous life.

Other members of the cast include Roxanna Hildreth, Deane Healey, Marian Samuels, and Jo Hildebrand.

Noel Coward, one of the most versatile of all playwrights in the theater today, used the experience and understanding of his profession to the best advantage, according to director James Butler. As actor, director, singer, dancer, and musician, Coward knows all the needs and possibilities of the theater and this has made "Blithe Spirit" one of his best, according to Mr. Butler.

Mr. J. Wendell Johnson's design of the English box set has been constructed under his direction, and the supernatural theme will be accentuated by a few special lighting effects.

NOMINATIONS FOR AWA ARE MADE

Nominations for cabinet members and officers were completed at yesterday's meeting of AWA, and elections will take place all day Monday.

All women students are automatically members of AWA upon entering San Jose State college, and are entitled to attend all meetings and vote in the elections.

In Monday's elections, 16 women students will be elected, and will be voted on for next year's offices by both the new and old cabinets Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock in room 24. There will be no meeting next Wednesday.

Those nominated for the social department are Adeline Clark, Jackie Popp, Ezma Rucker, Jean Glines, Dorothy Moody, Pat Dunleavy, Miriam McClurg, Carol Lantz, and Bea Hohman.

Service cabinet members will be chosen from the following nominations: Betty Sills, Pat Polk, Jane Potter, Dot McCullough, Barbara Curry, Elsie Lee, Doris Moody, Carolyn Hackman, Monie Wishart, Charlotte Harder, and Marjorie Smith.

Nine Offices to Be Filled Friday; Polls Open 8 to 5

Polls will be open from 8 to 5 Friday when the election of next quarter's Student Body officers will take place. Voting students will be asked to name their preference from the 35 candidates running for the nine elective offices.

Also on the ballot are two new amendments to the ASB constitution and a referendum to the students as to whether the Spartan Daily should carry tobacco advertisements. The two amendments to be voted into the constitution concern the eligibility of future candidates to hold Student Body offices.

For the position of Senior Justice there are three students running: Mary Simm, Frances Tuttle, and Muriel Waltz. Candidates for the position of yell leader are Ken McGill, Jerry Swamer, Don Titcomb, and Bob Johnson.

Junior representative candidates are: Emerson Arends, Mary Bean, Nancy Dean, Dick Driscoll, Dan Haley, Frank Hearne, Bill McFarland, Dorothy McCullough, Doris Moody, Elizabeth Patterson, Phil Robertson, and Monie Wishart.

Sophomores competing for council positions are Bob Culp, Phyl Dury, Bea Hohman, Nora McCue, Bruce McNeill, Pat Munchhoff, and Tom Wall.

Candidates for the two offices of senior representative are Marcella Brokofsky, Claire Caneveri, Betty Davis, Bonnie Gartshore, Carol Lantz, Nadine McNeill, George Millias, Cecile Monahan, and Bill Shaw.

Veterans' Supplies

Veterans' accounts at the Spartan Shop will be closed for the quarter after tomorrow, according to an announcement made by Mr. Harry Brakebill of the Business office.

Any veterans wishing to purchase supplies on their accounts should do so today and tomorrow.

Many Positions For Graduates

A variety of positions are listed at the Placement office for graduating students to choose from. Graduate assistantships and graduate teaching fellowships are open at the University of Denver to graduate students whose previous training or experience qualifies them for a classroom teaching assignment.

The Alameda County Welfare commission wants graduates for the position of student social worker. Positions are also open in the Campfire Girls as administrators.

A summer recreation post is open in Garberville; a senior PE major will be preferred.

For additional information about any of these positions, interested students should see Miss Doris Robinson in the Placement office.

GAME THIS AFTERNOON ENDS SPRING TRAINING

Washington Square gridiron fans, football hungry after three years of wartime, can take on that autumn air this afternoon when Coach Bill Hubbard winds up the first peacetime spring training session with a regulation game between the equally strong Blues and Golds. The game will start at 4 o'clock on Spartan Field just north of the stadium.

STRONG TEAMS

Hubbard has divided the squad into the Blue and Gold teams as evenly as possible. Spectators, who will be provided with seating space, are in for a treat, for either team is strong enough to hold down the first string positions for the Spartans come next fall and the regular season. (Lineup on page 3.)

The candidates are all competing for a first string slot, thus making the competition more spirited than just a practice scrimmage.

The Golds are bolstered by such stalwarts as Bert Robinson, Allen Hardisty, Pete Denevi, Ed Stepper, Fred Lindsey, Babe Nomura, and Chet Carsten, not to mention a host of other proved stars.

Cavorting for the Blue aggregation will be Wes Stevenson, Max Culver, Jim Jackson, Dick Bischoff, Al Chasuk, Bill Perry, Bill Rhyne, and others.

San Jose State is looming as a power in western football this year and the squad harbors some of (Continued on Page 3)

Flyers Breakfast At "Cap" Sunday

Climaxing a year of flying activities, the SJS Flying club will fly to Capitola Sunday morning for breakfast, returning by 10 o'clock. Ten two-passenger planes have been chartered; club members have arranged to fly in pairs led by President Wendell Peterson and one of his students, Ed Hennings.

The fliers will assemble near the Spartan Shop Sunday morning at 6:30 for briefing. Transportation and breakfast have been arranged for at Capitola.

In case the coast is foggy, the alternate destination is Walnut Creek.

Pilots and air-minded students may join the party by seeing President Peterson or Dr. James Wood.

SIGN-UP FOR SCRAM EXTENDED; JUNIORS TO ATTEND SATURDAY

Seniors

Signups for the Senior Scram have been extended until 4 o'clock today, in order to give every senior an opportunity to attend the traditional affair.

The signup booth is at the Library arch, and there are a few reservations left. A total of 200 graduating seniors may attend, and a fee of $2.50 will be charged to husbands or wives of seniors or to those who will not be graduating this June.

Cars leaving for the Scram will leave the Student Union at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and will reach the destination in time for dinner.

Juniors

Juniors who are planning to attend the Junior events of the Senior Scram Saturday at Pacific Grove are to meet in front of the Union at 9 a.m. Saturday. All those who can bring cars are asked to do so.

A lunch will be held on the beach and competition between the juniors and seniors in various events will take place. There will be swimming, ball, and other beach games.

George Millias, junior class president, is in charge of the junior arrangements.

All juniors are invited to attend the affair Saturday. They will leave Saturday morning and return some time that night.

FEM-ROOTERS RIDE

Buses will leave from the Men's gym today at 4 o'clock to carry female fans to the practice game at the Spartan stadium.

All women students are invited to attend the game and cheer for either the Blue or Gold teams. Women's organizations have been divided into two groups, and have been meeting players of the teams at the stadium for the past week.

Lycurgus Out Next Week --- 35 Cents

By WALLY TRABING

LYCURGUS, your campus magazine with a slant toward San Jose State, will be on sale next Wednesday morning, June 11, all over the campus.

The second issue of the new LYCURGUS will be sold for 35 cents to all students; it will feature humor, sports, features, science, cartoons, art work, student photographs, short-stories and a couple of surprises.

An anonymous professor blew a lot off his chest about students and it isn't prissy stuff, either. To make the odds even, Charles Anderson retaliated with a daring plunge into the professor's realm. The whole explosion will appear under the title of "Better Than a Zoo."

Slats Slatsoff and Bill Courtney came across in this issue with "Caricatures and Candidis." It's a sharp belly-bouncing accumulation of campus figures and campus sidelights. They have that peculiar twist in their pens that gives punch to the character.

Top student photographers have submitted their best, and those interested in style and shadows will enjoy comparing notes. Along the photographic line, but more in the feminine shade, two pages of "fashions de State college" will flash the up-to-the-minute fads and fashions of the Campus Set. (Continued on Page 2)

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

A Summary of World News to 11 O'clock Last Night from the United Press Teleprinter in the Spartan Daily Office.

Hotel Fire and Panic Kill 58

CHICAGO—A fire flashed through the first seven floors of the 23-story LaSalle hotel in 50 minutes early yesterday, killing 58 persons and injuring 200, many as a result of mass hysteria and panic.

The fire is believed to have started in an elevator shaft, and spread up through the shafts into the hallways.

Seamen Hold Stop Work Meetings

NEW YORK—Officials of the Sailors Union of the Pacific and the Seafarers International Union of North America, both AFL affiliates, announced last night that their members would hold stop work meetings in all U.S. coast ports today beginning at 11 a.m. (PST). Neither of the two unions is affiliated with the seven maritime unions threatening to strike June 15. A national officer of the AFL Sailors Union of the Pacific denied that it was a "strike" and said it would take only a few hours.

WASHINGTON—Meanwhile, it was announced last night, ship operators rejected a union compromise proposal on hours, shortly after President Truman had ordered the operators and the seven maritime unions to settle their wage-hour dispute through collective bargaining and so avert a national shipping strike on June 15.

Austin Succeeds Stettinius

WASHINGTON—Sen. Warren R. Austin, Republican from Vermont, was named by President Truman yesterday to succeed Edward R. Stettinius Jr. as American representative on the United Nations Security council.

The appointment will not become effective until next January 3, when Austin's Senate term expires.

Draft Act Extended

WASHINGTON—The Senate yesterday approved legislation extending the draft to May 15, 1947, and permitting selective service boards to induct non-fathers between 18 and 45 years of age.

The Senate-approved bill provides for limiting of service to 18 months, and service pay for privates and non-coms—and their Navy counterparts—to be increased as much as 50 percent.

Exile for Italian Royal Family

ROME—The 943-year-old House of Savoy, oldest ruling line in Europe, was headed for exile in Egypt last night, as the government clamped down on celebrations, which thus far have been comparatively peaceful.

King Humbert has already sent his family to Genoa, but he will remain until Saturday when the Republic is formally proclaimed and he turns his power over to the interim president.

GOOD TEAMS GET GOOD CROWDS

Publicity, When Well Handled, Has Drawn Heavy Local Support

The effectiveness of sports publicity in building prestige for a college may be argued pro and con. Certainly, a person must admit, sports publicity does no harm.

There have been scattered instances of good publicity aiding a good team from San Jose State college in packing the crowds in to see some sports event.

Generally speaking, students have been critical of local support of Spartan teams, however.

A CHOOSEY CITY

San Jose is a choosey city when it comes to sports attendance. It wants the best. If it feels that local teams do not offer the best, support goes to Santa Clara or Stanford.

A few years before the war, Spartan football teams became a power among coastal schools. San Jose gridders could have taken on any conference team and given a good account of themselves—in many cases, the "Golden Raiders" would have been victorious.

Progress was fast. But improvement of the schedule was not fast enough. Charges of "padding" the schedule, looking for soft touches and such were instrumental in keeping public support of the teams to a minimum. It was a growing college suffering from growing pains.

BASKETBALL SUPPORTED

In basketball, San Joseans fought for the privilege of getting a Spartan-Bronco civic auditorium ticket. The games were excellent, and the crowds continued to pour in. Then came the break in relations between the two schools.

Even after that time, double-header basketball games drew crowds. San Jose would take on one foe, followed by Santa Clara versus another team.

The San Jose State college boxing team, under Dee Portal, made San Jose an enthusiastic collegiate boxing town. The Spartans were drawing packed crowds in the Civic Auditorium as they boxed the ears off college and service squads.

WAR INTERFERES

The war ended that, as it ended the growing interest in a freshman Spartan track team that "took" the Stanford varsity.

San Jose residents have been good supporters of college sports, but they have not been consistent. Once again we find that there is a solid foundation on which to build a publicity program which will make the citizens of this city consistent spectators at San Jose State college sporting events.

Perhaps such a program can be worked out for the coming season. The sports teams from this college are expected to be better than any in preceding years. Public support is needed for a successful season, and sports publicity could help bring support and prestige to the college.

BOSTON—U.P.—Roxbury Latin School is celebrating its 300th anniversary this year—the longest continued existence of any public school in the United States. It was founded by Puritan John Eliot.

At the end of April, 1946, the United States had a grand total of 15,884,000 veterans of all wars.

Party for Council

Freshmen council members will attend a party Monday, June 10, at Alum Rock park, between 5 and 11 o'clock.

Council members should sign up with Bruce McNeil, Pat Walsh, or Dick Mansfield, if they wish to attend. They may bring guests.

THRUST AND PARRY

From the AYD

Walter Woodman described the purpose of the AYD club yesterday when he said that Americans should "make our economy one of abundance—our democracy one where brotherhood to all races is practiced."

He said further that we must prevent a "futile atomic war or a civil war between capitalism and communism."

If Woodman had asked the AYD he would have discovered that we are also opposed to a Third World War or a civil war.

The trouble is that too many people start forming opinions about issues before they have enough information to make an intelligent opinion.

I am chairman of the AYD club, and as long as I am, no clique or minority is going to dominate the organization.

There are Democrats and Republicans in our club and maybe there is a Communist or two. I don't know. There might even be a Prohibitionist among the members, but I doubt it very much.

Our organization is just what the name says—Young Americans who believe in Democracy. People keep telling us we are idealists to believe in democracy and our reply is that such people are too cynical.

We believe in strong, democratically operated labor unions, in social legislation, in world co-operation, and in more student democracy.

Speak up, you cynics. Are we asking too much?

Richard Cox, AYD chairman
ASB 3910

On the Other Hand...

Thrust and Parry:

Hats off to Walt Woodman! It is time that a thorough investigation of the radical aims of the AYD was started. They are a bunch of communists and are intent on overthrowing the Constitution of the United States—as the Communists in France are today.

I suggest the Student council appoint a committee to investigate this organization, following Mr. Woodman's suggestion that we clean house.

And I do not care if I have hurt the feelings of the AYD. I don't like them. They are not American.
R. E. Pearson, ASB-35

'Come and See'

Thrust and Parry:

Since Walter Woodman admits to no knowledge of AYD, why does he rave on for seven paragraphs about our communist practices, our un-American activities, and our revolutionary tendencies?

Our constitution and statement of policy have been submitted to and recognized by both the Student Council and the college administration. This should be indication enough that Woodman's accusations have no factual basis. Perhaps he should look into the situation before he accuses us of violence, revolution, force, and un-Americanism.

He will be very welcome at any of our meetings—for that matter, any one is welcome.

Gene Stickney, ASB 2648
Betty Qukin, ASB 451

Election Held By "30" Club

Keith Pope, junior journalism major, was elected president of the "30" club at a meeting of the organization Monday evening.

Other officers elected at the meeting were: Bernard Comito, vice-president; and Barbara Bauer, secretary-treasurer.

THE WEAVER

By WEBSTER

M'gosh, things are happening so fast around campus the last few weeks a person doesn't have a chance to notice the passage of time. All of a sudden the Weaver came up with the realization that he and a lot of other seniors have only two more weeks of more or less normal campus life left to them. After that follows one short week of activities, while everyone else slaves over final exams; and then it will all be over, with nothing to show for it but a piece of parchment paper.

* * *

Well, of course, a few may have something more to show than that—maybe a ring, or maybe just a bigger and better set of bags under their eyes.

And speaking of engagements reminds the Weaver of one of those overheard comments. A fellow was talking out on the lawn. "You know," he said, "at the beginning of the quarter there were about 20 single girls in one class of mine. But just about every other day, one of them would come running into class exclaiming over her new ring. And now, two-and-a-half months later, I don't think more than six single girls are left."

* * *

Still on the same subject, only a little more advanced, there is a new excuse for cutting classes. One fellow explained recently, "Shucks, my wife is on vacation from her job!"

May I Gripe?

By PEARSON

It has come to my attention via the honorable Charles Anderson, that this school is steeped in the mire of pornography, vice and various other forms of moral corruption.

Every time I read a Spartan Daily, I feel a fierce pride in the fact that my school paper has no libidinous advertisements that daringly display bare ankles and wrists of slim girls in order to sell the evils of tobacco to our stalwart and coughless young men (of course, the Spartan Daily is only two pages large and rather poor, but what is size and money?)

Again I am proud that the degrading influence of liquor has not been exerted on the campus of our fair school. Never is there seen an alcoholic ad in our paper or in our Art wing. Our student body is a sober one (of course there are always a few exceptions. Once in a while, a great while, one can find one or two state students in some obscure bar like Marty's, Caddy's, El Camino, Colonial Club, St. Claire, O'Brien's, Oswald's, De Anza, and so on. It is significant only a meagre percentage of our pure students go to these places. My latest personal poll shows that only 96% of the student body of 4000 drink in these dens of iniquity).

If we are successful in our cam-

Senior Forebears Made Night of It At Mt. Hamilton

In 1891, and for a number of years afterward, the senior class followed the custom of making a trip to Lick Observatory.

A Saturday night in June, during the time of the full moon was chosen, and the trip was taken in large horse-drawn hay-racks. The trek to Mt. Hamilton required all day. There, the planets, were studiously observed through telescopes until about midnight. After refreshments, the party started descending in the wee small hours, arriving home about in time for church services.

Wonder, did mamma see any wolves along the way? Wonder, too, what happened to this swell custom.

NEW ISSUE---

Art in a ceramic style will be portrayed in an interesting way by Al Johnson.

According to Maggie Moore, editor of Lycurgus, this issue will be a great improvement over the first one. New slants and ideas of what the students want have been adapted to the policy; the results in the stories, features and other contributions will be apparent.

paign of "Keep the Campus Pure," soon the works of D. H. Lawrence, James Joyce, Erskine Caldwell, John Steinbeck and other nasty authors will be verboten in the classroom. Then we can concentrate on reading Mickey Mouse to our heart's content.

VETS' CORNER

MEMO FROM THE DEAN OF MEN'S OFFICE

This is a great institution. There are 20 different departments. It is respectfully suggested that veterans avoid the error of too great specialization in purely "practical" courses. An engineering student ought to know something about philosophy. An English student should not be ignorant of biology. A commerce major might wisely include a course in sociology. Let breadth go hand in hand with depth. Seek an education that will "cultivate rather than train, form the mind rather than fill it."

Men And Maids And Stuff

By MAX MILLER

(Report from the Nation, or Ain't Peace Hell!)

Almost a year ago, when the bells rang and whistles blew and naked blondes took naked plunges in park lily ponds to show their appreciation for the War's end, no one realized how complicated a peaceful world can be.

Shortages, OPA fights, U. N. squabbles, housing, rail strikes, coal strikes, shut downs, race discrimination. All this plus calamity-howling radio commentators, daily draping the airways with their black forecasts concerning the eventual fate of man, is heaping a burden of despair upon the shoulders of the little guy caught in the mad whirl.

Some of us are apt to become despondent in the face of such a grave situation, but we mustn't weaken. Things are not as bad as they could be, and as evidence in support of this statement we offer the following:

A buddy of ours who departed this earth several years ago communicates with us weekly through the media of a seance. We are probably the only living soul who has the unexpurgated low-down on the latest developments in Hades. Speaking to us from the spirit world, our friend tells us that our housing problem is nothing in comparison to the one they are having in the Hot Place. Of course all this is being hushhushed by the Junior Chamber of Commerce down there. The boys have extended a standing invitation to anyone looking for a warm climate and sizzling society to come down and stay awhile. Soooo if you're not satisfied with things as they exist here, you now know where you can go.

We know another poor fellow (speaking acquaintance) who has a set of values that is based on the current price of a bottle of beer. The guy is wasting away to nothing because his supply of the foamy stuff, which he considers the Staff of Life, has been cut off. So don't feel too badly if you can't get anything to eat. There are some people dying of thirst!

SPARTAN DAILY TEAM WINS OVER THETA MU

The Spartan Daily softball team remained in the 1946 title picture by virtue of their 7-6 win Tuesday night over Theta Mu Sigma, up and coming "open" league team.

The Dailymen were caught short with only seven men but played the contest minus a few outfielders. Bud Anderson started on the mound for the Spartan Daily, but was forced to give way to the club's regular pitcher, Ed Loudon, in the final innings.

Theta Mu Sigma built up a 5-2 lead before the Dailymen got under way in the fifth and sixth innings. Hunter, Theta Mu's right fielder led the losers in hits, getting two for three while teammate third baseman Trienna got a four bagger in the third canto.

BIG SIXTH

Spartan Daily batters came through in the "big sixth" inning to score the winning runs on hits by Frey, McFarland and O'Bayley. Three runs on three hits during that frame put the game on ice for the defending champions, as they held Theta Mu to a single score in the last half of the seventh.

HANK'S ALL STARS WIN ON FORFEIT

Hanks' All Stars took another victory, this time by way of a forfeit on the part of the P. E. Majors, who have dropped out of the league. This leaves the title race up to Hank's All Stars, who have lost none, and the Spartan Daily, who have dropped but a single contest to the All Stars 5-3.

SPORTS SLANTS

By CHARLEY COOK

If pre-game practices mean anything, then you can look for today's football game to be a lulu in the full sense of the word. Tuesday both the Blues and the Golds, scrimmaging against the same outfit, scored more touchdowns than the top two teams in the nation last year. Halfbacks on the two squads showed that previous press clippings underestimated their talent when they reeled off several long runs deep into enemy territory.

Quarterbacks had no trouble in hitting their targets, and by the same token a quartet of ends several times waltzed into the end zone for scores.

Most pleasing to the critical eye was the way the two lines blocked with finesse. In direct contrast to the season's first scrimmage, the linemen showed

Track Team Enters Two Big Meets

Coach Bud Winter and his Spartan track team wind up the collegiate season this weekend with two topnotch meets.

Putting an end to the regular schedule, the locals will enter six man teams in both the Compton Invitational Friday evening and the Modesto Relays Saturday afternoon. Winter may enter some individual performers in the PAA at Berkeley June 15, but this week winds up the list of team meets for the Gold and White squad.
